

2.7.1 Student Satisfaction Survey (SSS) on overall institutional performance

The major goal of higher education is to create knowledge and spread it for the betterment of the world through creativity and the preparation of students' brains. This encouraging trend in higher education demonstrates how critical it is for educational institutions to evaluate student happiness in today's competitive climate. Students must be satisfied with things such as a suitable learning environment, public places, campus accessibility, and laboratory and classroom facilities, as well as staff satisfaction. In order to garner student opinion and viewpoint on the institutional environment, programmes, and services, the Marwari College has conducted student satisfaction survey. The pupils were given seventeen questions to answer as Excellent, Very Good, Good, or Satisfactory. A total of 386 students from various disciplines took part in the event. This survey looks to be an honest attempt to obtain input in order to improve the effectiveness of the institution's experience for students. The survey's results are displayed in the form of pie charts below.
